As concerned community members, Carol Hopkins and myself, Brent Stonefish, would like facilitate a day where we discuss and create a community crisis protocol to be presented to chief and council. After many years talking about creating a plan, we are going to put action to words. This plan can be used in times of crisis in the community, where we need to call upon, community members, departments, counsellors, and emergency response teams to help our fellow community members deal with whatever crisis they find themselves dealing with. Therefore, we invite anyone who wishes to add voice to a plan that can be presented to council. Please, bring your concerns and possible solutions to those concerns.

Our hope is to have something drawn up by the end of our day, but, if not, we will set another date to come together to make sure we complete our task at hand.

St. Clair College Employment Centre staff are available to assist students with job search and employment-related activities, one-on-one and in group sessions. Services for Youth

If you are an unemployed young person or a student, St. Clair College Employment Centre offers several Employment Ontario programs that can help you build skills or find a job – regardless of your background or circumstances.

Youth Job Connection is for unemployed young people (15 to 29 years old) facing challenges or complex barriers to finding work. These barriers include some combination of challenging life circumstances such as poverty or homelessness, limited work experience, a disability, low levels of education, or experiencing discrimination. The program offers opportunities for young people to learn about jobs and gain work experience so that they may secure long-term and meaningful employment. Through Youth Job Connection, you get:

- 60 hours of paid pre-employment training to prepare you for the workplace
- Job matching and paid job placements
- Mentorship, job-coaching and help with the transition to ongoing employment

For the year-round Youth Job Connection program, you must be between 15 and 29 years old, unemployed, not attending full-time school, and a resident of Ontario.

Youth Job Connection Summer also helps youth who face challenges or complex barriers to finding work, but is specifically for high school students (15 to 18 years old). You get:

- 20 hours of paid pre-employment training to prepare you for the workplace
- Summer jobs for up to eight weeks (or afterschool jobs if they don't conflict with school)
- Mentorship, job-coaching and help returning to school after the program ends

For Youth Job Connection Summer, you must be between 15 and 18 years old, a resident of Ontario, and planning to stay in high school or to move on to postsecondary education.

Youth Job Link is for young people (15 to 29 years old) who need help planning their careers and moving from school to work. Through Youth Job Link, you will:

- Improve your knowledge of career options and today's labour market
- Write your résumé, search and apply for jobs, and prepare for interviews
- Get ready for the workplace by learning about teamwork, health and safety and labour rules

The program also offers a job-matching service to help connect eligible participants with employers. You must be 15 to 29 years old to qualify for Youth Job Link. You can be in school or not, and you don't have to be unemployed to get help.

Open to the Public!

In addition to these programs, we provide Employment Ontario Employment Service to assist Ontarians of all ages with finding employment.

Contact us to find out how we can connect you to businesses looking to hire, and help you with finding training, skills and work experience.

DGW LAW CORPORATION

INDIGENOUS STUDENT INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

DGW is excited to introduce our summer Indigenous Student Internship Program.

We believe lawyers representing Indigenous communities can, and should, play a pivotal role in advancing Reconciliation. We are pleased to extend this new opportunity to Indigenous law students across Canada.

Based in Victoria, BC, DGW Law Corporation provides a wide range of legal and financial services to First Nations, Inuit, and Métis, as well as partners working with Aboriginal interests in Canada. Our practice focuses on aboriginal law and includes litigation, negotiation, and corporate/commercial work. DGW encourages the application of Indigenous legal traditions to resolve legal issues.

As part of our team, the successful candidate will work side-by-side with firm partners, associates and support staff. Duties may include:

- general law student tasks, primarily legal research and writing;
 - drafting correspondence and pleadings;
 - assisting lawyers with litigation and negotiation files; and
- assisting lawyers with drafting corporate/commercial agreements.

DGW offers a competitive salary along with regular and accessible mentoring sessions to maximize the potential for learning and growth.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: FEBRUARY 1, 2019
