Currently Windsor, Chatham and Essex/Kent Counties are experiencing a shortage of skilled trade workers in the construction industry, particularly for brick and stone masons. With major projects planned for the future, including the Gordie Howe International Bridge and relocation of the Windsor Regional Hospital, as well as a booming housing market, the need for skilled stone masons has and will continue to increase. With one-fifth of the province's current construction workforce retiring over the next ten years, sustaining industry need will remain a high priority.

St. Clair College has requested funding from the Ontario Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities to run a Pre-Apprenticeship Brick and Stone Mason Program in 2019 – approvals have not been announced to date. Pre-apprenticeship programs have ran successfully for several years with excellent work placement success rates! Participants in this program will complete the Level 1 Brick and Stone Mason Apprenticeship in-school curriculum combined with a 12 week industry work placement. This program is designed to increase access to apprenticeship opportunities, create good paying jobs in the trades and align with local labour market needs.

Industry stakeholders interested in providing a work placement to the participants in this program will receive individuals with excellent competencies in these trades. This program can also provide an employer with a wage subsidy of up to $1,950 per person. For details regarding this program or to be involved in a Job Fair to meet the successful participants, please contact Kirstyn Fox 519-972-2727 x 4067.

The benefits of this placement are two-fold: trainees benefit from real world exposure; industry benefits by reducing the training time for new employees and are paid a wage subsidy to offset training costs.

This 851 hour program consists of the following courses:

PMT 107N	Pre-Apprenticeship Math	18 hrs.
PMT 145N	Essential Employability Skills	21 hrs.
PMT 108N	Job Prep/Career Fair	8 hrs.

Community Info Session / Focus Group - 5:30pm - 7:30pm

A short information session about the changes to First Nations registration, membership and citizenship including;

- 1) Input on the removal of the 1951 cut-off from the Indian Act;
- 2) Remaining inequities related to registration and membership under the Indian Act; and
- 3) Devolution of the responsibility for determining membership/citizenship to First Nations.

The info session will be followed by a focus group to gain your input on how these changes should be implemented.

Rhonda's academic background includes art therapy and special education. She has worked with individuals, families and groups. Some areas of expertise are supporting infant mental health, and helping young people with stress management and self-regulation.

Rhonda is blessed with 6 children. She enjoys the time they share together (which usually involves football and a ridiculous amount of food!) Her oldest son is away at New Mexico State University so the family travels down there as often as possible to see him and hike the mountains.

Rhonda is looking forward to working with the Delaware Nation community.

When asked, if you could meet any famous person, who would it be and why?

"Inky Johnson. Inky is a motivational speaker and disability advocate based in Atlanta, Georgia. His approach to handling adversity with grace and perseverance is truly inspirational!"

What every older Canadian should know about: Fraud and scams

What every older Canadian should know about: Fraud and scams

[\[PDF \(Portable Document Format\) - 428KB \(Kilobyte\)\]](#)

Fraud is the number one crime against older Canadians. Though people of all ages can be victims of fraud, older people get targeted more than others. Some of the reasons are that they are often home during the day to answer the door or phone, they can be more trusting and they may not have family or friends close by to ask for a second opinion.

People who commit fraud and scams are commonly called con artists. Con artists don't just target people who have a lot of money. A con artist may steal a small amount from many people. They use a variety of ways to reach people, including the Internet, phone calls and even door-to-door visits.

Victor's story:

Victor received a phone call telling him he had won a free trip. The caller started by congratulating Victor and telling him about the exciting details of the trip. Then the caller told Victor he needed to pay a small fee right away in order to claim his trip and asked Victor for his credit card number. Victor knew he had not entered a contest for a free trip and he also knew he should not give his credit card number over the phone to a stranger, especially one who called him. Victor hung up and called PhoneBusters to report a probable scam.

Common types of fraud and scams

Identity theft

Identity theft occurs when a con artist steals personal information from someone so they can pretend to be that person and then do things like apply for a credit card, take out a loan or mortgage, get a cell phone or withdraw bank funds. The con artist will try to get information such as a bank card number and personal identity number (PIN), credit card number, health card number, driver's license and Social Insurance Number (SIN). Sometimes they will steal or copy the documents; sometimes all they need is the information. If your wallet is lost or stolen, or mail you are expecting goes missing, you should report it right away to your bank or credit union.

Credit/debit card fraud

Credit card and debit card fraud occurs when a con artist uses your card, or a copy, to make purchases or withdraw money from your account. Keeping your card in sight, memorizing your PIN (Personal identification number), and shielding your hand when you enter your PIN (Personal identification number) are ways you can reduce the risk of your credit card or debit card information being stolen and misused.

Online scams

There are many online scams and new ones appear all the time. Some appear to be asking for your help; some say there is a problem with your bank account or tax return. Scam e-mails are often easy to spot because of spelling and other mistakes, but some can look like they are coming from a person or organization you know. If you are not sure about an e-mail for example, if it asks you respond with personal or financial information or to go to another Website and enter information there – call to check, and do not respond to the e-mail.

Phone and door-to-door scams

Phone and door-to-door scams are also very common. Someone will call or come to your door pretending to be a representative of a charity, an employee of a credit card company, or even a distant relative. You might be offered a free prize or trip. If you aren't completely sure who you are dealing with, do not give the person any money or information.

Sometimes people call or come to your door using high-pressure sales tactics to get you to buy something you don't want or need, or to talk you into getting work done on your house and then overcharging you or doing a bad job. While this is not always illegal, it is wrong and should be reported.

Tips and safeguards

- Keep all personal documents in a secure place. If you don't need them, do not carry your birth certificate, passport or SIN (Social Insurance Number) card.
- Never tell another person your PIN (Personal identification number) or account passwords and take care to cover your hand when entering your PIN (Personal identification number) at bank machines and when making store purchases.
- Safely dispose of old bills and statements—shredding is best.
- Do not click on pop-up windows or respond to e-mails, open attachments or go to Website links sent by people you do not know. Your bank or credit union will not send you anything by e-mail unless you ask them to.
- Never give out your credit card, bank account, or personal information to someone over the phone, at the door, or over the Internet unless you know the person or organization you are dealing with, or you made the contact.
- Do not sign an agreement or contract to buy anything without giving yourself time to think it over. If a salesperson insists that an "offer" is "time limited" and you must decide that moment, it is probably better not to buy.

- Be suspicious if someone you don't know asks you to send them money or a cheque, or to return money they "accidentally" sent you.
- Before hiring someone or agreeing to have work done on your home, ask for proof of identity and references and check them.
