Release of Information Forms

The 2019-2020 Release forms will go out early this year, so our parents have to time to fill it out and drop it off at the office before the new school year begins. These forms help us access information for our students so that we can better attend to their needs. Please ensure that the person that is in care of the child fills out and signs the form. While it is helpful for a relative to complete and sign these forms, we will not be able to advocate on a child's behalf if the form isn't signed by the parent or guardian.

Lacrosse Camp

We are partnering with Economic Development, Public Works, Health Centre, AIAI Youth Representative, Administrative, Moravian Police to do the Lacrosse Camp July 10 and July 11 at the Community Centre.

Conserve Water Alert: Delaware Community

Tuesday June 25, 2019 – We are asking residents to conserve water. Delaware is well equipped to manage demand under normal circumstances. It's when we experience extreme weather conditions and everyone's consumption peaks at once, that adequate supply for emergencies is jeopardized. In order to ensure that there is a continuous supply of water, we Need to reduce the daily consumption rate until further notice.

Water Conservation Tips

- Minimize watering lawns or gardens
- Minimize laundry washing; wash full loads
- Raise the blade on your lawn mower
- Wash dishes once a day
- Don't let the water run (example while brushing teeth)
- Fix leaky pipes, faucets and toilets
- Keep showers to a 5 min or less, take fewer baths

Diabetes and Smoking Don't Mix

Aboriginal people have a long history of using tobacco in ceremonies and in prayer, but smoking cigarettes is not a traditional use of tobacco.

Smoking can cause a lot of health problems, but it's even worse if you have diabetes.

If you smoke and have diabetes, you may have:

- Higher risk of a heart attack or stroke
- Higher risk of nerve damage and kidney problems
- Higher blood sugars and high blood pressure
- More colds or infections
- Damaged blood vessels which can make it harder for you to heal
- Problems with erections

No matter how long you have been smoking, your health will start to improve when you quit.

There are many ways to quit smoking. Most of all, you have to want to do it. Make a plan and don't give up!

Lyme disease

Learn how to avoid bites from blacklegged ticks, which may carry Lyme disease.

Lyme disease is a potentially serious infection that you can get if you're bitten by an infected blacklegged tick (also called a deer tick).

Not all blacklegged ticks carry the bacteria that causes Lyme disease, and not everyone who is bitten by an infected tick will develop signs and symptoms of Lyme disease.

What blacklegged ticks look like

Blacklegged ticks are small and hard to see. They attach themselves to humans and animals and feed on their blood. They can range in size depending on how long they have been feeding.

Where blacklegged ticks live

We continue to track where infected – and uninfected – blacklegged ticks are being found.

Public Health Ontario's Lyme di

(<https://www.publichealthontario.ca/en/BrowseByTopic/InfectiousDiseases/Pages/IDLandingPages/Lyme->

Disease.aspx) sease page

(<https://www.publichealthontario.ca/en/BrowseByTopic/InfectiousDiseases/Pages/1DLandingPages/Lyme-Disease.aspx>) has a map (called “Ontario Lyme disease estimated risk areas map, 2019”) that shows areas in Ontario where they estimate you are more likely to find blacklegged ticks.

Blacklegged ticks are spreading to new areas of the province because of climate change. They can also spread by traveling on birds and deer. While the probability is low, it is possible to find an infected tick almost anywhere in Ontario.

Ticks are most active in spring and summer, but can be found at any time of the year when the temperature is above freezing.

How to avoid getting a tick bite

You might be at risk if you live, work in, or visit a wooded area, or an area with tall grasses and bushes (including city gardens and parks).

You may also be at risk if you are involved in outdoor activities such as hiking, camping and gardening.

You may be bitten by a tick and not even know it.

Here’s what you can do to avoid getting a tick bite.

Cover up

Wear:

- light-coloured clothing, so it’s easier to see ticks
- closed-toed shoes
- long-sleeved shirts
- long pants, tucked into your socks

Use insect repellent

Use an insect repellent, or bug spray, that says “DEET” or “icaridin” on it. Put it on your clothes and exposed skin. Always read the label for directions on how to use it.

Put clothes in the dryer

Kill any ticks that might be on your clothing by putting your clothes in a dryer on high heat for at least 10 minutes before washing them.

Check yourself and your children

After being outdoors, check for ticks on yourself and your children. Look:

- behind your knees
- on your head
- in your belly button
- in your groin area
- in your underarm area
- on the back of your body – use a mirror, or ask someone to check for you

It’s a good idea to have a shower as soon as you can to wash off any ticks.

Check your pets for ticks

After being outdoors, check your pets' skin and remove any ticks (<https://www.ontario.ca/page/lyme-disease#section-3>) you find.

Ask your veterinarian about options to help keep ticks off your pets.

Maintain your property

You can help keep blacklegged ticks away from your property by:

- keeping grass mowed short
- trimming bushes and tree branches to let in sunlight (ticks avoid hot, dry locations)
- creating a border of gravel or woodchips one metre or wider around your yard if you're next to a wooded area, or an area with tall grasses
- removing leaf litter, brush and weeds at the edge of the lawn and from stone walls and wood piles
- moving children's swing sets, playground equipment and sandboxes away from wooded areas
 - consider placing equipment on a woodchip or mulch foundation

How to remove a tick

Removing a tick is the same for humans and animals. It's important you do not crush or damage the tick because it could cause Lyme bacteria to pass from the tick into your bloodstream.

1. Use fine-tipped tweezers and grasp the tick as close to your skin as possible.
 - Do not use a lit match or cigarette, nail polish or nail polish remover, petroleum jelly (e.g., Vaseline), liquid soap or kerosene to remove the tick.
2. Pull the tick straight out, gently but firmly.
 - Do not jerk or twist the tweezers while pulling the tick out.
 - Do not squeeze the tick – you might crush it.

How to remove a tick.

3. Once you have removed a tick, wash your skin with soap and water and then disinfect your skin and your hands with rubbing alcohol or an iodine swab.
4. Put the tick in a secure container (for example, a bottle with a screw top so it can't get out or be crushed) and contact your local public health unit (<http://www.health.gov.on.ca/en/common/system/services/phu/locations.aspx>).

Why ticks are tested

Tick testing is used to monitor where ticks live (<https://www.ontario.ca/page/lyme-disease#section-1>). This is why it's important that you contact your local public health unit (<http://www.health.gov.on.ca/en/common/system/services/phu/locations.aspx>) once you have a tick in a secure container. If appropriate, they will send it to the Public Health Ontario Laboratory for identification and possibly test it for Lyme disease.

Tick testing is not used to diagnose Lyme disease in humans.

Lyme disease signs and symptoms

Most symptoms of Lyme disease in humans usually appear between three and 30 days after a bite from an infected blacklegged tick.

You should contact your local public health unit (<http://www.health.gov.on.ca/en/common/system/services/phu/locations.aspx>) or speak to a health care professional right away if you have been somewhere that ticks might live and experience any of the following symptoms:

- rash
 - a bull's-eye rash (<https://www.canada.ca/en/public-health/services/diseases/lyme-disease/health-professionals-lyme-disease.html>) (a red patch on the skin that is usually round or oval and more than 5 cm that spreads outwards and is getting bigger)
 - a bruise-like rash (usually on darker skin tones)
 - another type of unusual rash

- fever
- chills
- headache
- stiff neck
- muscle aches and joint pains
- fatigue (more tired than usual)
- swollen lymph nodes
- spasms, numbness or tingling
- facial paralysis

If not treated, Lyme disease can make you feel tired and weak and, if it gets really bad, it can even harm your heart, nerves, liver and joints. Symptoms from untreated Lyme disease can last years and include recurring arthritis and neurological problems, numbness, paralysis and, in very rare cases, death.

Lyme disease treatment

Your healthcare provider may diagnose you with Lyme disease depending on your signs, symptoms and risk factors.

Most cases of Lyme disease can be treated successfully with antibiotics.

Indigenous Knowledge Carrier

LONDON, ON

Posting Date: July 5, 2019

AtlohSA Family Healing Services in partnership with St. Joseph's Health Care - Parkwood Institute, co-lead the Biigajiisakaan: Indigenous Pathways to Mental Wellness program and are seeking a motivated and knowledgeable individual to fill the role of an Indigenous Knowledge Carrier. As Indigenous Knowledge Carrier, you will fulfil the role of a respected wisdom holder of traditional Indigenous Knowledge willing to share your expertise in a positive team environment serving those in our community who seek to achieve holistic wellness in and out of a hospital setting.

Role and Responsibility

With the mandate to deliver a culturally founded program, the Indigenous Knowledge Carrier will be involved in all aspects of the Biigajiisakaan program inclusive of lending wisdom to program design, planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation. The primary role of the Indigenous Knowledge Carrier is to facilitate Indigenous knowledge translation throughout the Biigajiisakaan program continuum. This role includes:

- providing culturally appropriate guidance to the program team
- counseling services to community members
- facilitation of culturally based practices and interventions
- providing referral to cultural based practices
- development of culturally based resources
- training of program staff as well as partners

Suitability

The ideal candidate for Indigenous Knowledge Carrier is a respected individual known to their community of origin and/or practice as someone who employs Indigenous life way practices. The candidate will have the ability to understand their Indigenous language and speak at least at a partial fluency, suitable for the facilitation of cultural based practices. The candidate will possess a profound understanding of their creation story and will possess the ability to facilitate knowledge translation and create understanding of Indigenous ways of being from the foundation of such wisdom. It is recognized that suitable individuals might practice an inherent understanding of humility and consequently may not apply to this posting; therefore, referrals of appropriate candidates from the community (with contact information) may be accepted.

EMPLOYMENT TERM: Part-Time (20 hours/week) Contract to March 31, 2021.

REMUNERATION: Competitive compensation and benefits package based on qualifications
