Important Public Health Alert: Measles

To: Chiefs, Health Directors, and Community Programming Leads

Date: March 1, 2024

On February 23, 2024, the Chief Public Health Officer (CPHO) of Canada released a statement regarding the global increase in measles cases and the current risk to Canada. In summary, measles activity has significantly increased since 2023. As a result, there is higher risk of acquiring measles when travelling, particularly for those who do not have adequate immunity. Any non-immune person, such as those who are unvaccinated, under-vaccinated or have no history of measles infection, can become infected.

As of February 23, 6 measles cases have been reported in Canada this year, including cases in Ontario. Most cases involve unvaccinated or under-vaccinated children who traveled internationally. All cases in Ontario resulted in potential measles exposures in both healthcare and non-healthcare settings.

The CPHO's full statement is available here: Statement from the Chief Public Health Officer of Canada on Global Increase in Measles and Risk to Canada.

Attached to this document, you will find unbranded community messaging about measles, measles vaccine, and illness prevention to support health promotion during March Break. The following pages detail important information about measles.

What is measles?

Measles is a highly contagious disease caused by a virus. People can develop measles 7 to 21 days after being exposed. Symptoms include:

- Rash
- Fever
- Cough
- Runny nose
- Red, watery eyes
- Small, white spots inside the mouth
- Sleepiness
- Irritability

While these symptoms are common among many viral illnesses, measles infections are rare and usually occur in isolated outbreaks.

Measles complications may include pneumonia, ear infections, blindness, inflammation of the brain, death, and premature labour and low-birth weight for pregnant individuals.

Transmission

Measles spreads very easily through the air when an infected person coughs or sneezes. The measles virus can live for up to 2 hours in the air and on surfaces in a space where an infected person coughed or sneezed. An infected person can spread the virus to others 4 days before the rash appears, and remains contagious until 4 days after.

Recognition of infection and home isolation are critical to preventing spread of measles.

Who is at risk?

Individuals at greatest risk of measles complications include:

- Unvaccinated babies and young children
- Unvaccinated pregnant people
- Immunocompromised people

Individuals at higher risk of being exposed to measles include:

- Travelers
- Military personnel
- Healthcare workers
- Students

In Canada, adults born before 1970 are presumed to have developed natural immunity to measles.

Treatment

There is no specific treatment for measles infection. Severe complications can be prevented through supportive care that ensures good nutrition and adequate fluid intake. Close contacts to a measles case may be recommended to receive measles-containing vaccine or a preventative treatment called immunoglobulin, which reduces their risk of infection.

Public Health Measures

Strongly encourage all community members ensure measles vaccinations are up to date for themselves and their family members. Optimizing vaccination rates is critical to prevent measles outbreaks. Additional public health messaging includes:

- Covering your mouth and nose with a tissue or your upper sleeve when coughing or sneezing
- Washing your hands often with soap and water, or an alcohol-based hand rub
- Keeping high-touch surfaces clean and disinfected
- If you suspect you have measles:
  - Self-isolate at home, limit your contact with household members, especially those at higher risk of complications, and do not have visitors
  - Contact your healthcare provider for assessment, but make sure to phone ahead to protect others

Vaccination is the key to preventing measles infection, spread and harm to community.

Respectfully,

Dr. Claudia Sarbu
Regional Medical Officer, Health Protection Unit
First Nations and Inuit Health Branch, Ontario Region, Indigenous Services Canada
